

FIND THE ADJECTIVES

Without adjectives, life would be very boring...actually, I couldn't even say boring. It would just be, "Life would be ...." So, let's see if you can find those very important descriptive adjectives in the following sentences. Remember that they modify nouns and pronouns, and they answer the following questions: Which one? How many or How much? and What kind?

Directions: Draw a petal (box) around each descriptive adjective in the following sentences. Can you find all of them? There are 36. Once you're finished raise your hand as a signal to your teacher that you would like to share your answers with the class.

Example: The glorious spring day was a veritable rainbow of vibrant colors.

1. Every splendid season displays a unique palette of innumerable color.
2. The cool, crisp autumn brings us warm, deep color on the ever-changing trees.
3. The gold, russet, and burgundy hues blend into a grand symphony of colors.
4. The frigid, icy winter has a much more subtle blend.
5. It blends white, gray and blue shades to create a barren scene.
6. However, after the bleak winter, comes the raucous spring bursting with blue, purple, rose, and yellow blooms.
7. The myriad colors capture the grand birth of nature all around us.
8. Soon, the bright yellow sun warms into the long, lazy days of summer.
9. The vibrant colors remain until relentless summer begins to singe nature.
10. Thankfully, the burnt colors again blend into the magnificent and ardent colors of fall.
